China's Chang Calls For Patience In UN

"The United Nations Has Become a United Nations."

This was the assertion of Dr. Chun-ming Chang, a member of the permanent mission of Nationalist China to the United Nations when speaking before what he described as a "half-vast" audience in Showalter auditorium, February 28.

In his talk "Is the United Nations Doing Its Job?", Chang described the problems of the U. N., explained how they developed, and discussed the future of the U. N.

There was a time, Chang said, when no one would criticize the United Nations for fear of being called a reactionary or conservative. Now many former supporters have become skeptical of the U. N.'s usefulness. As an example Chang cited Washington's Henry Jackson who stresses that the U. N. is oversold in the United States and that we rely too much on it. "Even if the United Nations came to an end," Jackson says, "the world would not."

The U. N. ambassador also related that this decline of confidence is not confined to the United States, for Great Britain and France are growing in opposition to U. N. practices, especially those which affect themselves.

Not only is the Western hemisphere affected, Chang went on to say that when India was invading Goa, her leaders stated that no matter how the vote in the United Nations resulted, India would have her own way. Khrushchev made a similar statement announcing that even if every nation in the world recognized a decision the Soviet Union would not if the decision were detrimental to their country.

One of the reasons Chang cited for the present U. N. situation is that the countries which formed the charter during World War II no longer have the common fears and hopes which once bound them together. "The charter is full of loop holes and confident statements," Chang asserted. "It is a juke box from which you can get what you want."

As an example, Chang told of two committees set up in the years 1954 and 1956 to define the terms "self-defense" and "aggression", two key words in international law. Neither committee met with success.

The changing structure of the United Nations, Chang related, is another reason for its decline in prestige. One change is in the balance of power. Over one-half of the present members now belong to the Afro-Asian block. Fortunately, Chang pointed out, the nations are sub-divided or they would have complete control of the U. N.

Another factor discussed was the growth of power in both the Secretariat and the General Assembly. The Security Council has relinquished much of its power to the General Assembly, causing peace-making decisions to be more difficult. When Dag Hammarskjöld became Secretary General, Chang said, he became the United Nations, so much so that the policy became "leave it to Dag." Russia's fear of this power has caused a large rift in the United Nations.

Although he found many failures with the U. N. in the area of peace, Chang believes that the very successful economic and technical work of the U. N. can form a basis on which political effectiveness may be built.

Patience and persistence are what Chang calls for in regard to the present United Nations. If we expect too much, too soon, he said, we will be disappointed.

Dames Club To Show Fashions March 28

Latest styles in suits, coats, sportswear, dresses and formals will be modeled at the Dames club fashion show scheduled for March 28 in LA lounge.

Proceeds from the show, titled "Spring-Bon Voyage," will be used to provide a scholarship for an Eastern student during fall quarter 1963.

Tickets are being sold by the club members and may be purchased at the door.

AMS Offices Up For Grabs

Male students interested in running for an AMS office may sign up in the SUB lobby on the AMS bulletin board. The deadline for submitting names is Friday, March 8.

Any male student who has been in residence for two quarters and has a 2.25 GPA is eligible.

Positions to be voted upon are president, vice president, treasurer, secretary, social chairman, and publicity director. Students with questions may contact Dave Manley, AMS president, in Garry Hall, ext. 241.

Club Forms To Aid Graduate Students

Cooperative review and discussion of common education requirements is the purpose of the Graduate Study club now forming at EWSC.

The club's function will be group discussion covering foundation areas and specialized fields to aid students preparing for oral examinations, said Ken Hickey, club chairman. The second meeting of the new group was March 5.

History and the philosophies of education are the first two topics slated for review. Coordinators have volunteered to lead discussions and obtain materials in each study area, and a format for future forums has been prepared.

Success of the new project will depend and draw upon the talent and skill of individual members. All graduate students who are preparing for the successful completion of the Master's program are invited to attend subsequent meetings, Hickey said.

Martin Wins AW Election

Ellora Martin won the AWS presidency February 27, with 184 votes, only 24 over Kaye Johnson's 160.

Ellora Martin

Vi Martin became vice president with 195 votes. Her opponent Jean Featherstone had 153.

The secretarial post was taken by Lynne Wilcox who had 227 votes to Clyda Carver's 119.

Ann Carter, in the race for treasurer, won over Jeanne Kanzler with 234 votes to 114.

Louise Anderson Elects Officers

New officers were elected last week at Louise Anderson hall. The new president, Jo Ann Blockinger, and her assistants will take office spring quarter.

The other officers are: vice president, Judy Barton; secretary, Gladys Otski; treasurer, Joanne Dowling; AS representative, Ann Carter; publicity chairman, Marilyn Crumpacker; co-social chairmen Sue Smith and Betty Jo Tesch; historians, Gail Hanninen and Kathy Moliter.

Speech Class Will Perform Tonight

Eastern's first program of oral interpretation will be presented tonight at 8:15 in the Science building auditorium.

Miss Alice Moe's oral interpretation class has prepared a wide variety of prose, poetry and drama. The program is open to the public and there will be no charge.

Mick Heacox New Editor For Spring

Mick Heacox will assume the position of Easterner editor for spring quarter.

A transfer from the University of Hawaii, Heacox has worked on the Easterner as a reporter last spring quarter, assistant editor for fall quarter and associate editor during winter quarter.

Heacox replaces Joan McCallum, who has completed the usual two-quarter stint as Eastern editor.

AS Publicity Agent Pleads Lack of Time

The public image of Eastern, much discussed by prospective candidates for ASB offices last month, was again the subject of discussion at last Thursday's AS council meeting. The subject was forced upon the council by Les Raschko, KEWC radio station manager.

Raschko has been attempting to introduce a debate of the council's publicity agent post since the middle of February, when some candidates asserted the need for better communications at and around Eastern. Raschko wanted to know why the council had an agent who was not doing his job. Before Thursday's meeting, the publicity agent, Bob Stevens, resigned. He had held the post since the beginning of winter quarter.

The council's agent has a full job description delegating him to publicize the events of the Associated Students by submitting publicity materials to the Associated Students news media (The Easterner and KEWC) and to the college director of public information as well as news media in the Cheney-Spokane area. The agent, among other duties, is required to keep a file of articles used by these media, submit a weekly report of his activities, and answer to the ASB president.

At the council meeting Raschko questioned whether any of these activities had been conducted, as KEWC had not received any publicity material during the quarter.

Raschko also played the tape recorded statement of Joan McCallum, Easterner editor, which suggested that if nothing else, a publicity agent who was apprised of the various events at Eastern could be of great utility to KEWC and The Easterner. Mrs. McCallum stated that one of the chief difficulties in operating a news medium at Eastern was trying to keep abreast of all the activities.

Stevens opened his rebuttal by stating that he knew he hadn't done his job but that there was a "time factor" involved. "I had a lot of ideas," he said, as he went on to discuss the many public relations films, etc., that Eastern could produce. He accused The Easterner and KEWC of "passing the buck" by trying to get the publicity agent to do their jobs. "We can't let them get away with it," Stevens concluded.

Raschko reported that he had personally taken the results of the AWS elections to the public information director and said that Mr. Koslowsky does not get the results of dorm elections and other items to send to the local papers. One representative questioned whether the dorms don't take care of this. "They haven't in the past," was President Larry Little's rejoinder.

Another representative suggested that the council minutes could be utilized for this information, since the election results are reported to the council. "Mr. Koslowsky doesn't get his minutes for about eight days," Raschko said. Minutes are usually not available to The Easterner until the Wednesday following the meeting.

Buzz Hatch, off-campus and commuter representative, suggested that the publicity post be retained, since the council has complained about The Easterner reports of the meetings. "This way you'd have both sides," Hatch said.

The council, after discussing the overlapping roles of the publicity agent, The Easterner, KEWC and the public information director, referred the matter to the executive committee.

Last Easterner For Winter Quarter

This issue of The Easterner is the last for Winter quarter, 1963, since the Easterner does not print during exam periods.

Mick Heacox

All We Need Is An Image

Les Raschko has put his finger on a mighty sore spot in pointing out the discrepancies between a job description and the actual performance by an employee of the Associated Students. Apparently neither the council nor the employee was sure of what the job involved, and it took Raschko to inform them of the situation.

What is alarming to The Easterner is that, rather than hiring someone to fulfill the requirements, the council is considering abolishing the position. The employee, now resigned, is displaying a woeful lack of information about his late job and is busy accusing The Easterner and KEWC of trying to get the council to employ somebody to do their jobs. If it weren't so pathetic a claim, it would be laughable.

Certainly a college with a campus as large as Eastern's could use somebody solely occupied in giving tips on coming events. The Easterner does not need prepared publicity releases, but it does want to do a good job in reporting the news. Luckily, the AS news media have the assistance of the college's PR man or they would miss a great deal. While the council's late publicity agent pleads a "time factor," he seems to enjoy the ignorant belief that KEWC and The Easterner are sitting on their hands 24 hours a day.

The Easterner joins KEWC in hoping that the council will retain the position of publicity agent and hire someone who has the time and interest to put his ideas to work.

Our Many Thanks . . .

This issue of The Easterner is the last of winter quarter and the last Easterner for the present editor. With spring quarter The Easterner will be directed by Mick Heacox. An editor usually serves two quarters, and the two quarters we have watched over The Easterner have been the busiest and most hectic of our short college career. In the five quarters we have been associated with Eastern's newspaper we have had the privilege of meeting some of the most interesting people, connected with the college.

We have tried to raise a small voice against some of the inconsistencies that plague Eastern and we have tried to give credit to those who work to make this college a good school to attend. We have had the pleasure of working with some of the nicest people at Eastern—the Easterner staff, people we probably wouldn't have met had we stuck to formal classes and the rat race for the grade point.

The list of those we have enjoyed working with is a long one, led by two EWSC staff members, Mr. Pat McManus, the Easterner advisor, and Mr. H. R. Koslowsky, Eastern's Public Information director. The list of students could go on forever, but especially memorable to us is Sharon Click. The members of the summer quarter staff included: Mick Heacox, Judy Huetson, Jeanne Kanzler, Mike Yarnell, Marijean Carmack and Paulette Jeske.

During this quarter our faithful reporters were Sharon Bel-den, Gary Phillips, Terry Gamon, Don Dressel, Gymme Williams, Karen Kusner, Chuck Plumb, and the aforementioned Judy Huetson and Mick Heacox. We include many thanks to Mary Ellen Faulkner, Carol Devary, Buzz Hatch, Paul Lewis, Chuck Logsdon and George Beard, without whose technical assistance The Easterner could not have met its deadlines. There are undoubtedly others to whom some debt remains. We thank them, every one. We wish the new staff happy deadlines and lots of news. And that's 30!

The Toad Wasn't Real at All

By Gary Phillips

The proposed "Real Toad," a coffee shop that was to be located in downtown Cheney, died before it could get its feet off the ground.

Several weeks ago three of our English professors formulated the coffee shop idea with the intention of giving Eastern's students a place to enjoy the arts.

The idea was enthusiastically received. Enough people who were interested in reading poetry, folk singing and closet drama volunteered their talents to keep a program going for months, and artists gave up their paintings to decorate the new shop. But enthusiasm wasn't enough.

The two student managers who had volunteered their time soon discovered that there was more to opening a business than painting a toad on a sign and hanging it in front of a building. Plumbing had to be installed. The walls needed painting, chairs and tables were needed, and various people had to be contacted and permits obtained.

The project fell apart as rapidly as it had begun. After a failure to raise the needed money, the managers decided that school was too pressing and one of the professors dropped his support.

In a three-week period the "Real Toad" was reduced to a good idea that would have worked.

But why let it drop?

Here is a concrete idea—to quote a recent ASB candidate—"to bring more and better activities to Eastern." "All that is needed to get the project off the ground," said one of the professors, "is to get a group that has enough time and money to back it."

The talent is waiting for a building to perform in, the professors are still willing to give all their ideas away and students are pressing for a more intellectual atmosphere at Eastern.

Rise, students! All you have to lose is your grade point average.

Reactionary

By Gary Phillips

The industrialist of the early 1900's exploited labor. Labor formed a union.

The meat packers poisoned the people. Sinclair wrote a book. Dillinger robbed a national bank. The Feds threw him into the pen.

Eastern's students walked past the cash register with a seven-up they claimed to be water. The price of water rose to a dime.

Sounding Board

The Easterner
Dear Ann Landers,
2600 students pay a $20 ASB fee each quarter for three quarters, which anyone who even has failed Math. Clearance can unsweatingly add up to total $156,000.

So why is it that any activity worth seeing, such as Louie Armstrong, that comes on campus costs us a dollar or more?

It seems that the only things available to the Eastern student free of charge are water in the fountains, paper in the latrines, and rotten advice.

Rich Dadich

Dear Joan,

The Spurs of E. W. S. C. would sincerely like to thank you and your staff for the fine job you did in building up Spurs through your feature in The Easterner. Thank you very much for all your work.

Right-Wing Extremists Blasted By Young Demo

Washington, D. C.—The seizure of the California Young Republican organization by right-wing extremists reflects the steadily increasing strength of this element in the Republican Party, Allan T. Howe, President of the Young Democratic Clubs of America, charged today.

Howe said in a statement issued in Washington:

"It has been apparent for sometime that the extremist, right-wing element—including the John Birch Society—is out to gain control of the Republican Party. The influence of this group, backed by virtually unlimited resources, is becoming increasingly powerful in the Republican Party even though it is diminishing nationally.

"The crude power play in California resulting in the takeover of the Young Republican movement there is regrettable. The general technique of the John Birch Society is foreign to the democratic process. Its philosophy is repugnant to our democratic ideals.

"Therefore, the election of a candidate to the presidency of the California Young Republicans with the support of the John Birch Society is to be deplored. It should not have happened and the entire Young Republican movement will suffer because of it.

"It is encouraging to note that the 4000-member College Federation of Young Republicans bolted the state Young Republican organization rather than be members of a John Birch satellite.

"We assure them that in the Young Democratic Clubs we practice democracy. If these disillusioned Young Republicans decide they would prefer a party whose name and principles are founded on democracy, we shall be happy to consider their applications for memberships."

Others exhibiting are Janis Alkanis, ceramics; Richard A. Telford, watercolors, sculpture, mosaics and crafts; and Walter F. Burnett, oils, watercolors and sculpture.

Belshazzar's Feast

Super-Charged Grandeur

By Judith Huetson

Shouts of "bravo" and a roaring, standing applause indicated enthusiasm engendered by a magnificent "Belshazzar's Feast" by Sir William Walton. The Spokane Symphony orchestra, Whitworth college choirs, and Neil Wilson, Oregon baritone soloist, conducted by Donald Thulean gave the oratorio a super-charged grandeur that left this writer frankly speechless February 25 in the Post theater.

The choral masterpiece has been acclaimed as "an orgy in sound; a breathtaking compound of passion, poetry and charm; music encompassing a range of emotion from rampant debauchery to eerie mystery, from the depths of despair to the heights of joy." Thulean, obviously, was inspiring the performers in this gradiose music spectacle. Brahms' Academic Festival Overture and Mendelssohn's Italian Symphony preceded the Walton work on the program.

Few works are more demanding of both the performers and conductor, whose baton must direct a stage entirely full—an augmented orchestra, a large choir divided into two sections—and a brass band seated beneath the stage on both sides.

The soloist and choirs handled the arduous task of singing, usually a cappella, the contemporary melodies and harmonies with ease and assurance. This is a difficult task for even the orchestral performer. Milton Johnson, head of the Whitworth music department, rehearsed these fine singers. Their high quality training prompted the audience to praise him equally with conductor Thulean.

The Bible has inspired many masterpieces. This huge choral work, taken from the Psalms and the Book of Daniel, with the stirring music of Sir William Walton, has taken its place amid the most stupendous music ever written.

A repeat performance, "College Night," was presented at Shadle Park High school the following night, sponsored by the Spokane Symphony College Council. The orchestra is to be commended for encouraging college students to enjoy great music by offering a special concert at reduced prices to Spokane area college students.

A Book Review

When You're Away, I'm . . . Bored

By Gary Phillips

Samuel Hoffenstein attains an interesting balance in his book Poems in Praise of Practically Nothing, by combining cynicism common to modern poetry with rare wit.

To his favorite subject of abuse, women, Hoffenstein devotes pages. From the poem entitled "Pomes of Passion Carefully Restrained So as to Offend Nobody" he observes: When you're away, I'm restless, lonely, Wretched, bored, dejected; only Here's the rub, my darling dear, I feel the same when you are here.

Hoffenstein rambles on about sex, death, God, children, a superficial society and oyster shells, turning each poem into a critical comment or a friendly poke.

In a series of poems laboriously entitled "Songs About Life and Brighter Things Yet; A Survey of the Entire Earthly Panorama, Animal Vegetable and Mineral, With Appropriate Comment by the Author, of a Philosophic, Whimsical, Humorous or Poetic Nature—a Truly Remarkable Undertaking" Hoffenstein makes the observations: The oyster never leaves his shell,

And does, therein, exceeding well; He does not have to sweat and brood To know the joys of oysterhood;

He deems the treasured pearl a fault, And takes his world with ample salt.

Hoffenstein's parodies of the better known works of English poets from Housman to Yeats composes a small section of the book. To Housman's "The Shropshire Lad's Cousin," Hoffenstein adds a sub-title of "An Even Gloomier Fellow Than His Celebrated Relative" and comes up with this rendition:

Terrence, this is fearful rot, Putting poison in the pot; All your song is measles, mumps, Cramps and colic and the dumps; Terrence, you are rather frayed—

Go and have your teeth X-rayed.

Even though Hoffenstein pushes both his rhyme scheme and humor, he does come up with some interesting and witty comments. Practically nothing escapes his critical mind.

Thursday Night at the ASC

By Don Dressel

Arriving about 15 minutes late last Thursday, I found I had missed one of the more humorous events of the quarter. As I groped for information, I found that it was only water that had perplexed the student officers. It seems that in our water saturated great Northwest it is not just the Washington Water Power company or the federal government that charges for the abundant liquid.

Our own restaurant at Eastern is charging the ludicrous price of 10 cents for a glass of water. This dime of course, buys also the paper cup and the ice, so you see that the price is very meager as compared to just plain old water. There is a fountain just outside the Harbor which dispenses water for no charge, but as the temperature of the water is about 70 degrees, it is seldom used. Oh well, there's cold beer downtown.

The next order of business was that of clarifying the duties of the student council publicity agent. The council seems displeased that all of the campus news, mirrored by the council, is not getting out to the public.

Bob Stevens, our next ASC president, was the scapegoat of this affair, but with the closeness of his victory, it was fairly easy to see that his spare time was well occupied. This column has tried but apparently failed in the eyes of the council to bring the ASC happening to the campus.

The council was undecided as to what they would do about the post of publicity agent. Suggestions were numerous, ranging from cutting down the pay, or making it a journalism course, to making The Easterner send a reporter. Hell, I'm the reporter!

The answer to this problem will be a long time coming. In the first place, the council does not give a reporter or publicity agent too much material to work with. Perhaps if the council could show many deeds accomplished and could give forth words of wisdom for the campus, there would be much more for the weekly report. Right now it is getting so that even an interpretative reporter has to scrape to get a column of suitable length. Perhaps next quarter the sun will thaw out our leaders and the ASC will experience the kindly renaissance of spring.

Public Relations Class To Sponsor Easter Seal Drive

By Don Dressel

The Public Relations class at Eastern, instructed by Miss Daphne Dodds, has been designated to bring the 1963 Easter Seal drive to the people of western Spokane county.

Ed Uhrig, chairman of the drive has stated, "This drive is going to be a truly community affair." All Cheney merchants will participate in this drive. The drive will begin March 6 and continue through April 14, but the big day for the Eastern-Cheney community will be Saturday, March 9. This day will become Cheney Easter seal day and a variety of projects will be on hand.

The main project will be a gigantic bake sale to be held at the new Safeway store. The goodies will be donated by local Cheney women's groups and will be sold by donation. As an extra bonus, there will be slips of paper with certain items that will entitle the buyer to free hockey tickets, baseball tickets, dinners, bowling passes and movie tickets.

Virg's Enco service station will be another spot filled with excitement. Throughout the day at unannounced times gas will go for five cents a gallon. If you're there at the right time you might get your car washed for a nickel. The M-N-M Drive-In will also have "specials" throughout the day.

KEWC will have live broadcasts from each of these places via live lines donated by the Cheney Telephone company. The Pix movie theater will run a five-minute film about the Easter Seal drive and have Easter Seal cans on hand for donations.

The whole day will have the air of a carnival, but keep in mind that it is the crippled children who will reap the benefits of this drive. The best thing that Eastern students can do is to go downtown next Saturday and let some of the campus money ring in the Easter Seal cans. Eastern can help make the slogan good. HELP MAKE CRUTCHES GOOD ONLY FOR FIREWOOD.

Smothers Brothers Financial Success

Receipts totaling approximately $1800 were returned from the Smothers Brothers' two concerts performed here last Wednesday. It cost the AS $2000 to have the couple perform on campus.

extra dollar, the cost of bringing professional entertainment to Eastern is greatly reduced and the campus has had appearances by Duke Ellington, Louie Armstrong, Walter Chapman, Mann Trio, the Smothers Brothers and the scheduling of a name band for the Military ball.

The possibility of bringing another group to Eastern is also being considered. This will be decided when the activities vice-president knows the financial feasibility of obtaining another group.

The Honor Guard presents the colors at all the athletic events and for the ROTC brigade. It also acts as the president's escort and for all visiting dignitaries.

All members of the Honor Guard are picked by the brigade color commander and the brigade commander. The group is composed entirely of sophomores during the spring quarter.

Eastern To Host MUN Regional

A model, Model United Nations will be held at Eastern the day after finals.

As part of the final preparations for the coming 13th session of the MUN, 31 schools from Montana, Washington, Idaho and Oregon have been invited to send some 50 delegates to attend the regional session which will be held all day March 16th in the Bali Lounge.

Four committees will spend the day discussing resolutions that will be in the MUN program at San Jose State. Such things as the question of nuclear disarmament, admission of the Peoples Republic of China to the UN, and the question of the UN emergency force in the Congo will be discussed by the four committees.

Activities will begin at 8 a. m. with registration and a coffee hour and will end at 7 p. m. with an banquet and a brief address by the Secretary General of the 13th session.

While preparations are being made for the regional session, Eastern's delegates are carrying out a recruiting drive to expand the size of next year's program.

Al Eliot, vice chairman of Eastern's delegation, said that students who are interested in the program should try to participate in the spring quarter activities to get as much of a head start as possible. Interested students should contact Mr. Thomas Bonsor in Showalter.

A special effort to attend the regional session should be made by students who are interested in the program.

MUN Needs Large Delegation For '64

Model United Nations officers are on a talent search.

Eastern is planning a greatly expanded delegation next year to take advantage of the regional location of the 14th session, which will be held at Whitworth.

Jeanell Halverson, secretary of the M. U. N., said that students who are interested in next year's program should try to participate in the spring quarter activities to gain as much experience as possible.

While recruiting is occupying some of the delegations' time, most of the efforts are going into preparation for the 13th session to be held at San Jose state in April.

The 16 members who will compose Eastern's delegation will be chosen at the beginning of spring quarter.

Students who are interested in next year's program should contact Mr. Thomas Bonsor, assistant professor of history and economics in room 310 B at Showalter.

Eastern Places In Top Ten At College Ski Carnival

Mount Bachelor near Bend, Oregon was the site of last week's largest U. S. Intercollegiate Ski carnival. Skiers numbering 3,800 students from five western states—Washington, Idaho, Oregon, Nevada and California—as well as Canada, attended the week-end. Portland State college hosted the event.

Eastern's team, sponsored by the Sitzmark club, took ninth place in the slalom, 11th place in the giant slalom, and placed in the top 10 team listing. Each of the five Eastern skiers placed in the downhill race, with 30 schools competing. Art Reese, Doug Aslvik, Tom Collins, John Magnuson, Bill Reese composed the Eastern team.

Arlene Johnson represented Eastern in the queen contest. The crown was won by Micki Sickles of Central Oregon State.

The team and members of the Sitzmark club, 20 in all, left Eastern Thursday evening for the long Washington's birthday holiday weekend at Bend. They reported powder snow with a temperature close to the 50 degree mark, producing many sun tans.

Entertainment was provided nightly, with The Four Freshmen, a talent show and the queen coronation topping the events. During the day "lodge skiers" spent their time strumming guitars and singing.

Ritzville First In Hoop Tourney

The Ritzville Broncos edged Reardan's Indians 57-52 in overtime Saturday night to win the Northeast District Class "B" Basketball Tournament. Davenport defeated Wellpinit 59-49 to earn the district's third place in the state tournament at the Spokane Coliseum this week.

Ritzville beat Northport 67-49 and squeaked by Liberty 52-49 to reach the finals. Reardan earned a berth in the state tourney with a 59-39 win over Wellpinit and a 63-50 victory over Davenport.

Nick Bruya of Springdale was the leading scorer in the tourney with 69 points in two games including 38 points in a 98-64 loss to Davenport. Bruya scored 13 of his 31 points against Wellpinit in the final quarter as a Springdale rally fell short and Wellpinit claimed a 65-62 victory.

Evergreen Company Hears Col. Howard

The chief of staff of the 41st Infantry division, Washington Army National Guard, Col. Dale W. Howard, spoke Monday at the evening meeting of Eastern's ROTC Evergreen company, Army of the United States.

Col. Howard, a combat veteran of World War II, discussed the Medal of Honor Centennial and the role of the National Guard.

ROTC Rifle Team To N. R. A. Matches

Seven Eastern ROTC rifle team members competed in the National Rifle Association of America sectional matches held Friday and Saturday at Montana State college in Bozeman.

M/Sgt. Maynard B. Miller, team coach, said the members were Dale G. Moffatt, Robert J. Strahl, Michael J. Thill, Donald O. Clarke, Richard W. Knowles, Richard R. Nelson and Frederick G. Wong.

Six Returning Lettermen Ready For Tennis Action

Six lettermen and three transfers form the nucleus for the 1963 Eastern Washington State College tennis team. The team will play 15 matches prior to the conference tournament which will be played here May 17 and 18.

The opening match is against Washington State here on April 4. It is the first of five home matches.

The returning lettermen are Roger Kromer, Bob Adams, Keith Vradenberg, Charles Hiatt, Larry Little, and Leonard Hunt.

Transfers who are expected to bolster the squad are Don Knudsen, who has attended Olympic JC and Oregon State University, John Hansen from Olympic JC and Dave Adams, a transfer from Whitworth.

Other candidates for the team include Ed DeKeyser, Nick Mays, Mickey Cannon, and Doug Francis.

The Savages placed second in the NAIA District Tournament last year, losing by a single point. Mick Soss is the only member of last year's team who is not back.

Gymnastic Meet Draws 53 Girls

A gymnastic meet for junior and senior high school girls, sponsored by the EWSC Women's Recreation association has drawn 53 entries announced Mrs. Louise Stratton, EWSC women's gymnastic coach and meet director.

Four senior high school and two junior high school teams, plus 15 unattached contestants are entered in the six event-meet which started March 2 in the Fieldhouse.

Teams were from Shadle Park, Kennewick, Medical Lake and Columbia High school of Richland, a Spokane junior high school level team called the "Flying Falconettes," and Kennewick freshmen.

SAVAGES OPEN TRACK SEASON

Eastern Washington will make its first appearance of the 1963 track season in the WSU Invitational Indoor Meet at Pullman March 23.

There are seven other meets scheduled for the Savages and another one may be added. The first home meet is against Central Washington April 20.

The only returning lettermen are Dave Davis, shot putter and discus thrower, and Chuck Messenger, pole vaulter and high jumper. Messenger, a sophomore, won the Evergreen Conference pole vaulting championship last year.

From The Sidelines

By Terry Gamon

Pacific Lutheran dumped Western Washington 57-49 Saturday to win the best-of-three playoff for the NAIA's District One berth in the national tourney at Kansas City.

The Lutes had won the regular season Evergreen Conference basketball title but had placed fourth in the conference tourney while Western beat Whitworth for the championship. Western had split two regular season games with PLU.

Pacific Lutheran dominated the conference's offensive statistics. The Knights averaged 79.3 points for 10 conference games as they hit 44.8 per cent of their field goal attempts and 74 per cent of their free throw tries.

Tom Whalen of the Lutes was the scoring champion with a 23.2 average. Whalen also had the top field-goal percentage, 50.3. Marv Frederickson of PLU was first in free-throw shooting with 34 of 38 for 89.5 per cent.

PLU was fifth in defense as sixth place Eastern allowed one more point. Western, with a high national ranking, was the league's top defensive team.

Congratulations are in order for Ritzville, Reardan, and Davenport. They were the top three teams in the Northeast District "B" tourney here last week and will be competing in the state tournament in Spokane this week.

Ritzville, winner of the NEHS tourney, plays its first game of the state tourney at 7:30 tonight. Runner-up Reardan plays at 10:30 this morning and third-place Davenport goes into action at 10 p. m.

EWRA Hosts Swim Meet

The Eastern Washington Recreation Association will host a swimming meet in the EWSC pool Saturday. There will be competition in all age groups and there will be competitors from all over the Northwest.

The meet is expected to draw a large number of entrants and spectators.

There is a good possibility of national swimming records being broken in the meet according to Lanny Willman, a coach for the EWRA.

Savages To Play 20-Game Schedule

Eastern Washington will play a 20-game baseball schedule this year opening March 29 against the Washington State Penitentiary.

The schedule includes only three home appearances, all of them double-headers. There are seven double-headers on the slate.

The Savages have three letterman pitchers returning. They are Jack Smiley, Lee Grichuhin, and Doug Morgan. Other returning lettermen are infielders Del Duchene, Mike Presto, and Ed Taylor, and outfielders Chuck Jungblom and Daryl Henjum.

The first home appearance for the team is April 6 against Central Washington at Fisher Field. All home games will start at 1 p. m.

EWSC Women Win Pine League Title

The Eastern Washington women's basketball team defeated Whitworth 36-35 in overtime Wednesday to win the Pine League basketball championship.

The team plays Gonzaga here tonight. They will also compete in a tournament at the University of Washington in Seattle before concluding the season.

Miss Virginia Asan coaches the team, Joanna Carlson is manager, Nicki McIntosh is scorer, and Carla Rae Funk is captain. Other team members include Lynda Paulson, Darlene Maurer, Ruth Pieterston, Sharon McCullin, Doris Pfeiffer, Joy Wood, Jackie Carlson, Jeannie Louise, Bonnie Coe, Virginia Novak, and Marcia O'Leary.

Pacific Northwest College Meet Saturday Is Last Home Appearance For EW Gymnasts

Eastern Washington's gymnasts make their final home appearance of the season Saturday as they host the Pacific Northwest College Gymnastic Meet. There will be two sessions, starting at 2 p. m. and 7:30 p. m.

All the teams the Savages have faced this season will appear in the meet. The top team is probably the University of Washington, which defeated the Savages 95-33 this season. The Savages' only other loss this year was a 67-61 defeat by Washington State. Eastern has won four meets.

The University of Washington is led by Bob Hall of Chicago, Kjell Hansen of Denmark, and Gunter Bohrmann of Germany.

The Savages will close the season next week in the Western Intercollegiate Gymnastics Association Championships at Pullman. There will be 2 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. sessions March 15 and 16 (Friday and Saturday).

AMONG MY KINFOLK

My favorite cousin, Mandolin Glebe, a sweet, unspoiled country boy, has just started college. Today I got a letter from him which I will reprint here because I know Mandolin's problems are so much like your own. Mandolin writes:

Dear Mandolin (he thinks my name is Mandolin too), I see by the college paper that you are writing a column for Marlboro Cigarettes. I think Marlboros are jim-dandy cigarettes with real nice tobacco and a ginger-peachy filter, and I want to tell you why I don't smoke them.

It all started the very first day I arrived at college. I was walking across the campus, swinging my paper valise and singing traditional airs like Blue Tail Fly and Death and Transfiguration, when all of a sudden I ran into this here collegiate-looking fellow with a monogram on his breast pocket. He asked me was I a freshman. I said yes. He asked me did I want to be a BMOC and the envy of all the in crowd. I said yes. He said the only way to make these keen things happen was to join a fraternity. Fortunately he happened to have a pledge card with him, so he pricked my thumb and I signed. He didn't tell me the name of the fraternity or where it is located, but I suppose I'll find out when I go active.

Meanwhile this fellow comes around every week to collect the dues, which are $100, plus a $10 fine for missing the weekly meeting, plus a $5 assessment to buy a headstone for Spot, the late, beloved beagle who was the fraternity mascot.

I have never regretted joining the fraternity, because it is my dearest wish to be a BMOC and the envy of all the in crowd, but you can see that it is not cheap. It wouldn't be so bad if I slept at the frat house, but you must agree that I can't sleep at the house if I don't know where the house is.

I have rented a room which is not only grotesquely expensive, but it is not at all the kind of room I was looking for. I wanted someplace reasonably priced, clean, comfortable, and within easy walking distance of classes, the shopping district, and San Francisco and New York. What I found was a bedroom in the home of a local costermonger which is dingy, expensive, and uncomfortable—and I don't even get to use the bed till 7 a.m. when my landlord goes out to mong his costers.

Well anyhow, I got settled and the next thing I did, naturally, was to look for a girl. And I found her. Harriet, her name is, a beautiful creature standing just under seven feet high and weighing 385 pounds. I first spied her leaning against the statue of the Founder, dozing lightly. I talked to her for several hours without effect. Only when I mentioned dinner did she stir. Her milky little eyes opened, she raised a brawny arm, seized my nape, and carried me to a chic French restaurant called Le Chipjoint where she consumed, according to my calculations, her own weight in chateaubriand.

After dinner she lapsed into a torpor from which I could not rouse her, no matter how I tried. I banged my glass with a fork, I pinched her great pendulous jowls, I rubbed the legs of my corduroy pants together. But nothing worked, and finally I slung her over my shoulder and carried her to the girls dorm, slipping several discs in the process.

Fortunately, medical care for students is provided free at the college infirmary. All I had to pay for were a few extras, like X-rays, anaesthesia, forceps, hemostats, scalpels, catgut, linen, towels, amortization, and nurses. They would not, however, let me keep the nurses.

So, dear cousin, it is lack of funds, not lack of enthusiasm, that is keeping me from Marlboro Cigarettes—dear, good Marlboros with their fine blend of choice tobaccos and their pure white Selectrate filter and their soft pack and their flip top box.

Well, I must close now. My pencil is wore out and I can't afford another. Keep 'em flying.
